CHALLENGE ACCEPTED

Strathcona, Oct. 26th.

A party from Edmonton sends a challenge through your paper to play one man at Strathcona at checkers, for a supper for a select few gentlemen. We accept his challenge and will play one member of our club against him for the supper. We will also play three or four more of our club against the same number of Edmonton men at the same time if desired. I would designate Friday evening, October 30, at Strathcona, to play the game.

POLICE COURT AT BEAVER LAKE

Reporter.

On Monday Leora E. Faye, J.P., T. Cooke was charged with fraud. It appeared from the evidence that the defendant had a note for four thousand dollars, part payment for a Percheron station named Condit, accepted by four persons, one of whom, Mr. McCullum, brought the charge. The note had been signed by them and was presented to Mr. McCullum for his signature. He asserted that it was dated too early, whereupon the defendant averred the date from 1903 to 1904 without the consent of the three. This was the basis of the charge, and after fourteen witnesses had been examined the case was adjourned for eight days. W. Short appeared for McCullum, and J. C. F. Down for Cook.

WINNIPEG MARKETS

Commercial, Oct. 24th.

Wheat.—The trade in Manitoba wheat has been moderately active whenever the American market showed an advancing tendency, at other times it has been extremely dull. Local prices are still above the line at which a free export trade could be done. This prevents a good demand, and along with the uncertainty of wheat bought at country points grading for what it was bought, causes trade to be very unsatisfactory. There is not much change in prices during the week, except that 1 northern has declined 1c, other grades do not show much change and we quote 1 northern 83 1-2c, 2 northern 78 3-4c, 3 northern 74 3-4c, No. 4 wheat 68 1-2c, local wheat, 55c. October delivery. For delivery first half November prices are 1-4c under October, and for delivery all November 1c under October. All prices are for in store Fort William and Port Arthur.

Oats.—There is still only a light movement of oats here. The inspection for the week ended Wednesday amounted to 18 cars, of which 24 cars graded No. 2 white. Millers say that they have secured enough good oats fit for milling to meet their requirements for the meantime, and as there is no pressure to buy from feed merchants prices are easier. So far there has been no great amount of new oats shipped east for export, although our eastern advisers note a good export demand. This is being tried out of the large Ontario crop. Today new No. 1 white oats are worth 32 to 33c per bushel in car lots on trucks here; No. 2 white, 31c; and feed grades, 29c to 30c. At country points farmers are getting 23 to 25c for wagon loads. Fort William values are about the same as Winnipeg.

Barley.—The movement is light and the market is easier. Milling grades are bringing 30c per bushel in car lots on trucks here and feed grades 28 to 30c. Farmers are getting 25 to 26c at country points.

LOCAL

—Supreme Court opened in Edmonton this morning.

—Civil service examinations will be held in Calgary on November 10th.

—A drive of logs is coming down the river for D. B. Fraser and Company today.

—A very large raft of lumber left Walters' mill this morning for points down the river.

—Mr. McElin has entered into partnership with John Cameron in the real estate business.

—The "fat" drive of logs for the local lumber men have been taken down the river.

—Elk, moose, caribou, antelope and deer may be hunted on and after the first of November.

—"La Consequencia," Queen of clear Havana, H. V. Shaw's new cigar, is now on the market.

—The Canadian Northern Railway Company is advertising for 500,000 ties to be delivered at Battledore.

—Herald—F. Mariaggi, the well-known Winnipeg hotelman, returned from the north last night. It is said Mr. Mariaggi intends to build a hotel in Edmonton.

—A polo match will be held at 4.30 p.m. today on the exhibition grounds. The losers are to pay for a dinner at the Windsor. Everybody is welcome to be present and see the match.

—Saturday's Canada Gazette contained a proclamation appointing the 24th of May as the day for the celebration of the King's birthday. November 4th will not be a holiday.

—The new dynamo at the Strathcona electric light station is now in place and the new compound engine leased from the Saskatchewan Gold Bridge Company, is now being installed.

—Seats are already being sold for "The Resurrection," the play which the Clara Mathes company will give Friday evening. The play will play "A Daughter of Erin" tomorrow evening.

—Plaintiffs, Oct. 23.—Strathcona acknowledges the compliment to the law adding character of her citizens and is willing to grant to Edmonton with her new jail and police barracks the privilege of using the Sing Sing of Alberta. What we want is the provincial university and the capital buildings. Modest Strathcona:

—The price of milk has been raised in Edmonton. Henceforth eighteen quarts will be given for a dollar to those who take eight quarts or more a day, and fourteen quarts for a dollar to those who take less than eight quarts a day. The reason given is the increased price of food materials for stock. The new prices go into effect on November first.

—The Edmonton German newspaper, the Alberta Herald, has been enlarged from a six page to an eight page paper. The Herald is making great progress in both the news and the advertising departments, and the increase in size speaks well for the enterprise of the management. The Herald fills a long felt want among the large German population in the Edmonton district.

—A special service was held at the Christian Endeavor Society of the Edmonton Presbyterian church last night. A large number were in attendance. Rev. Mr. Douglas gave a short and very interesting missionary address touching on the work of the late Dr. Rorer. Some special music was exceedingly well rendered Miss Webster singing solo and Misses Potter and Craits and Messrs. Caisley and Laidlaw a quartette.

—The Clara Mathes company scored another success last night in their presentation of "A Royal Spy." The Opera House was again crowded, testifying to the great popularity of the company. The play afforded Miss Mathes opportunity to exhibit her skillful acting and the entire play was followed with a great deal of interest. Sawyer's and Lawrence's specialties were particularly amusing, their appearance on the stage being the signal for welcome applause. The company will play Nell Gwynne at the Opera House this evening.

—Hindster—It is not every day that the tears at the Royal get loose, but quite frequently and the novelty of recapturing them has worn off. On Monday last Mr. Steele, who lives at "The Club," undertook to assist the proprietors in securing the black one which had been making a tour of the neighborhood on his own hook. Mr. Steele got his right hand in rather too close proximity to the bear's head, and the result was a very bad bite. The unlucky member was punctured through and through and will probably be crippled more or less for life.

FROM OTTAWA

Bulletin Correspondence.

The action of the opposition in prolonging the session is reducing the business of parliament to a farce. On Saturday the House was treated to a debate on a resolution moved by the leader of the opposition, censuring the government for not having established a fast Atlantic steamship line. Whatever may be thought of the merits of this project, the fact that the probable price ranges from three-quarters of a million to one and a half million dollars per year, renders it a subject of first-class importance. That such a resolution proposing to commit the country to such vast expenditure was only brought up on the fifth day of the eighth month of the session, and then was only supported by a counted vote of twenty opposition members out of a total of eighty or thereabouts, is such striking evidence of absolute insincerity in transacting parliamentary business as has seldom been shown to the electors of Canada by their representatives on either side of the House. The count in this vote shows that it has become impossible for the leader of the opposition to hold his followers in the House, and yet with a remnant of 20 he assumes to dictate the policy of the country and actually prevent the transaction of pressing business. At the present time, owing to the fact that the appropriations for the current fiscal year have not yet been completely assented to by parliament, the public service of the country is unpaid. This is a condition of affairs that has never occurred before at this time of year, and therefore, has not been provided against. Until the important measures relating to redistribution and the transcontinental railway had been disposed of, there may have been some color of excuse for delaying business, but when these had been finally disposed of, as far as the House of Commons was concerned, that there should still be a continuation of the same policy of apparently purposeless obstruction which had prevailed during all the preceding part of the session was not expected. Whether the reason is simply that the opposition is not acting unselfishly, and that therefore, each member takes the time of the House and country to grind his own individual axe, or whether there is some definite, but secret, purpose to be achieved is a matter of doubt.

A suggestion was made by Mr. Scott that the session was being prolonged by the opposition to enable them to use the franking privilege in order to disseminate free of postage, through the mails, Conservative election literature. Under ordinary circumstances this would seem a preposterous suggestion, but the facts being as they are, there seems to be fair grounds for it. The Montreal Star has constituted itself, or has been constituted, the chief publication agent of the Conservative party. That paper has issued many tons of printed matter calling the attention of the electors to the inequity and ineffectiveness of the Laurier government. These publications, after being printed, are put in wrappers in the office of the Star and addressed to electors throughout the Dominion. The Star then applies to the post office department for mail tags, fills the mail bags with this literature, and, under the law permitting the free postage of letters and papers to members of parliament during the session, frank the sacks and their contents to Geo. Taylor, M.P., Conservative whip, House of Commons, Ottawa. On their arrival here the sacks are opened and the wrappers or envelopes franked by members to the addresses thereon. The Star, having a complete staff and all appliances, is able to turn out the literature much more quickly than Mr. Taylor and his friends can frank it. The consequence is that these mail bags, which arrive by the carload, are piled up in rooms in the parliament buildings and even in the corridors by the cord, awaiting the efforts of Mr. Taylor and his friends to get them sent out. To such an extent has this been carried that it has produced a shortage of mail tags in the post office department, so that on Friday last, La Presse, of Montreal, which claims the largest circulation of any paper in the Dominion, was unable to get mail tags in which to send its issue to the post office.

The question of the misuse of the post office mail tags by the Montreal Star was brought up in the House on Saturday and the postmaster general stated that the tags would have to be supplied and returned to the department forthwith. The members of the opposition seemed to think that the matter was quite a good joke, and relied for support on the law which permits mail matter to be franked to members of parliament during the session, and also to be franked out by them. While it is quite true that Mr. Taylor and the Star are within their rights as the law stands in using the mail service as they are doing, it is also true that no such a use of the franking privilege was ever contemplated when it was accorded, nor should the public submit to such an abuse. The privilege was accorded in the first place so that there might be the freest possible communication between members of parliament and their constituents during the session; that being considered to be in the public interest. But that the privilege should be used for the purpose of disseminating election literature, not by these or by the ton, but by the carload, free of expense to the parties circulating it; which means at the expense of the taxpayers generally, was certainly not intended, and is not in accord with the principle upon which the privilege was granted.

Mr. Borden's resolution regarding a fast Atlantic line, which was discussed on Saturday, was as follows:—
"This House affirms its belief that great advantages would result to Canada as well as to the mother country from the establishment of a fast steamship service between the two countries, and expresses its regret that no effective steps have been taken for that purpose by the present administration."

Speaking in support, he found fault with the government for having cancelled the contract which Sir Charles Tupper had made with the Allans for a million and a half a year. He said it would be folly to ask a company to contract for a term of only five years. The government should call for a straight 21 knot service. He advised the government to make up its mind what the country could afford to pay for a fast Atlantic service, and then invite proposals.
